

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In a drive system switching control method of an automotive four-wheeled vehicle for switching two drive systems comprising a two-wheel drive and a four-wheel drive. The method has a step of 5 detecting a steering angle, and a step of inhibiting the drive system switching if the detected steering angle is over a predetermined angle.